

GAME DEVELOPERS'
ASSOCIATION OF AUSTRALIA

GCAP Forums Announced

MELBOURNE – Thursday 29 October 2009 – The Game Developers' Association of Australia (GDAA) today announced the two forums that will run alongside this year's Game Connect Asia Pacific (GCAP) conference. The forums, which will concentrate on Education and E-Health will both be held in Sunday 6 December at the Crown Hotel Complex, Melbourne.

The Education forum is designed for educators at all levels, with separate tracks for school and tertiary. Expert presenters will demystify the game industry in a series of combined lectures and hands-on workshop style sessions.

If you are working at a school or tertiary institution and have an interest in Australia's world-class game development industry, or if you are already working with students in this field, then this forum is not to be missed.

The E-Health forum is a first for GCAP. Featuring a stellar lineup of local and international presenters, this half-day event will bring together the Australian game development industry with healthcare providers, clinicians and health technology application developers.

The E-Health forum is aimed at game developers, health practitioners and academics from both fields. The E-Health sector encompasses a rapidly growing $6.6 billion international market that Australian companies are well placed to access.

For more details on both GCAP forums, and for information about the conference itself, visit www.gameconnectap.com

About Game Connect Asia Pacific 2009 (GCAP):

Game Connect: Asia Pacific (GCAP) 2009 is the premier conference, exhibition and networking event for the Asia Pacific Games Industry. GCAP 09 will be held at the Crown Promenade Hotel, Melbourne Australia from Sunday 6 December to Tuesday 8 December, 2009.

Game Developer Awards 2009:

The GDAA Industry Awards will be presented at the Game Connect Asia Pacific annual awards dinner in Melbourne on Tuesday 8 December, 2009

For event & presenter details, contact:

Mike McNabb
COO, GDAA
Ph: + 61 3 9866 6322
E: mmcnabb@gdaa.com.au
W: www.gdaa.com.au

For media information, contact:

Kerryn Nelson
Managing Director
Big Mouth Marketing Communications P/L
Ph: + 61 3 9558 3122
E: kerryn.nelson@bigmouth.net.au